Re: Agilent Research Gift #4620

Dear Dr. Lu,

Congratulations! Agilent Technologies, Inc. will support your research on the topic of "STORM strategy innovates therapeutic discovery of pancreatic cancer" with a gift to Shanghai Jiao Tong University in the amount of $36,500 (USD).

Our internal review process is rigorous and competitive, and this gift reflects the high confidence of many at Agilent in you and the importance and relevance of your research to Agilent and to the world.

Agilent is a catalyst for the advancement of science in academic and government research. Through our leading-edge capabilities, collaborations, and contributions, we enable breakthroughs in life sciences, diagnostics and applied markets. Our instruments, services, consumables, and workflows; the expertise and engagement of our technical staff; our knowledge of research questions of practical importance; and our large network of Agilent academic collaborators combine to enable a unique contribution to academic research. This gift is made through Agilent's university relations program, advancing academic research while informing our long-term product and technology strategies and making a social contribution to the communities in which we do business.

It is our intent that this gift will enable mutually beneficial research collaboration. Jimmy Chan (Jimmy_chan@agilent.com) has sponsored your proposal and is committed to serve as a mentor for this project. The time Jimmy spends working with you is an additional gift from Agilent. We ask that you include the Agilent mentor in your project, enabling regular interactions. The mentor is your primary contact at Agilent for this work. In our experience, direct Agilent engagement in the research results in the greatest benefit to the institutions and to the individuals involved.
